Services Held At Vulcan For Mrs. Lillie Lay

Graveside services were held at the Vulcan cemetery on Thursday, Sept. 7, 1967, for Mrs. Lillie Maranda Lay, aged 83, of Shepard, Alta. and Calgary, who died on Tuesday, Sept. 5.

Born at White Plains, Dodge City, Kansas, she came to Rosary, Sask., in 1912 and homesteaded there with her husband. She moved to DeWinton in 1944, to Idaho in 1946 and retired to Shepard in 1953, moving to Calgary in 1960.

Surviving are one son, James S. Lay of Lomond; three grandchildren; one brother, Clarence Beckwith, Idaho; and several nephews. She was predeceased by her husband Raymond in 1951.

Rev. G. Hendrickson of Lomond conducted the services and arrangements were in charge of the Vulcan Funeral Home.

At County Central High

School Walls Painted

Four Vulcan youths will appear in court Wednesday, Sept. 20 to face charges of damage to public property.

Lloyd Sokvitne, Roy Atkinson, Brian Smith and Donald Grant were apprehended outside County Central High School at 1:15 a.m. Monday morning by night patrolling town police, as they painted messages and "Grads '67" signs on the walls. They were taken to the police office for questioning and released two hours later.

The only wall of the school not touched was that facing the alley separating residences from school property. Other walls and windows were defaced in varying degrees.

The boys appeared at the school Monday and Tuesday with paint remover and cleaned windows, window panelling and screens. It is feared the black paint used on the school outside walls and brickwork cannot be removed readily.

Other than post-graduation hijinks — graduation exercises and a dance were held the previous Friday — evidence from the signs indicate a grievance against the presence of two security guards in attendance at the dance.

Questioned on this, school officials felt that the presence of security guards might discourage any liquor activity or disciplinary problems in school or at the parking lots. Other than the presence of a few outsiders who "crashed" the dance, the evening was orderly and students well-behaved, said officials.

At a meeting of the County School Committee Monday night it was decided to have a Calgary contractor come down and make necessary repairs to the building with the bill being sent to the young men.

Two of the accused were graduates — expecting to attend university this fall. Of the two students involved, one has been expelled for one semester while the other, because of a previous school record, was expelled permanently.

The town water tower, the target for paint jobs following graduation in the past two years, was protected by police this year. Last year the sidewalk in front of County Central was marked with paint.

Remember, you can't lift yourself by downing others.

Almost all of the 79 members of the 1966-67 Grade 12 class of County Central High School returned Friday, Sept. 8, to be honored at graduation exercises. Also the largest crowd of parents and friends in recent years, was in attendance to follow the program and hear an address by guest speaker Dr. W. J. Collett.

In his message of welcome to visitors seated behind the rows of graduates at the front of the auditorium, Principal A. Husby said that although he had served last year in his capacity as principal this was his first full year with a class whose members he was able to get to know and work with, personally.

Before presenting graduation certificates, School Committee Chairman Frank Thurber offered his congratulations to students on the continued improvement of exam results in both diploma and matriculation subjects and to teachers who, in the present system, he said, have become specialists in their fields.

In addition to his congratulatory message to students, School Superintendent E. Bardock paid tribute to his school committee members, councillors and teachers whose co-operation, he felt, helped in the success of the past year.

His special thanks went to D. D. McQueen, retiring secretary-treasurer. He said, "No man in the school department or at the county office can influence education more than the official in this position . . . Mr. McQueen held a vital interest in education."

Remarking on the success of CCHS students Mr. Bardock also made mention of the small five-teacher Mossleigh school where top marks had also been registered in Grade 9 results.

First Class Honors student Dennis Burton gave the valedictorian address saying that this occasion was most important of many farewells that students will make in their careers. "It is with reluctance yet happiness that we bid adieu to our school."

Introduced by D. D. McQueen as a one-time teacher at Peace school, south of Brant, Dr. Collett worked his way humorously to his subject taken from the Expo theme, "Man and His World" and at Montreal, he said, 20 acres are devoted to this particular subject and its component divisions, man the explorer, man the provider, and so on. Yet he said, despite all the material, cultural and technological advances, "there is a tendency for man to be lonely in a crowd, to live within himself." It was common in Calgary, he said, for a man to be a stranger to his next door neighbor.

He said, "So many who should

United Church Services Thursday For Mrs. A. Smith

A resident of Vulcan since 1924, Mrs. Austina Minetta Smith, aged 77, died on Tuesday, Sept. 12, 1967. Born at Lower Woods, Nova Scotia, she came to Lomond in 1916 and lived there until moving to Vulcan.

Surviving are her husband, Stephen Smith, Vulcan; four daughters, Mrs. Walter (Erma) Spracklin, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Chris (Eileen) Churchland, New Westminster, B.C.; Mrs. George (Opal) Duthie, Nanton; Mrs. Harry (Shirley) Ertmoed, Calgary, and two sons, Walter C. Mix of Vulcan and Orval Mix of Edmonton. She was predeceased by her first husband, Carl Mix, in 1948.

Services will be conducted by Rev. Bruce Fyke of Champion at the Vulcan United Church on Thursday, Sept. 14, at 2:00 p.m. Arrangements are in charge of the Vulcan Funeral Home.

WELCOME ALL. Treats and entertainment were "On the house" Friday, Aug. 25, when Suburban Propane Ltd., officially opened the new Vulcan premises at the former site of Canadian Western Natural Gas Co. plant. Above at the ribbon cutting ceremony are, from the left: J. Lundy Findlay, Deputy Mayor Dave Schlerman, President and General Manager of Suburban Propane Ltd., Bill Morgan, Marv Kirk, Vulcan manager of the company and D'Arcy Scott whose afternoon CFCN radio program was carried, in part from the mobile unit set up at the local plant.

Following the welcome by the deputy-mayor visitors toured the plant and were given demonstrations of propane appliances by factory representatives.

At the end of the day draws totalling over $700 in value were made. Winners' names were carried in an earlier issue.

In January

Klassen Homes Ltd. Will Move To City

Specializing in the manufacture of mobile homes, Klassen Homes Ltd. expect to move in January from the Vulcan Airport to a new $500,000 plant at Mayland Industrial Park in Calgary.

The Klassen company, which moved from Saskatchewan to Alberta in 1962 when it purchased from the County of Vulcan all the buildings at the former wartime airport except one hangar, has a ready market for its product of 32- and 60-ft. long mobile homes. Difficulty of securing enough competent production workers for expansion of its manufacturing facilities here originally prompted the move and an economic study showed that location in Calgary would prove more economical and feasible.

The Vulcan plant, which now has about 50 employees, will be closed when the move is made to Calgary. Some of the present senior employees will join the Calgary staff, which is expected to number about 200 persons for a normal eight-hour shift.

At Vulcan, production has been limited to about six units per week. When the new 250,000 square foot Calgary plant is in full operation production is expected to be six mobile homes each day. Construction will be on a straight assembly line with eight stages. A chassis on wheels will be locked into place at the start of the line to emerge as a completed unit at the other end within a day and a half. The straight-line production concept has been found to eliminate many delays experienced by other manufacturers.

Two models of the mobile home will be manufactured in Calgary. A 52-foot long unit will sell for about $8,600 and has two bedrooms. A three-bedroom unit is 60 feet long and will sell for $10,300. Both models are 12 feet in width and are completely furnished, from appliances to draperies, when sold.

The company, which is headed by William Klassen, now has 13 dealers in the western provinces. The greatest market for this type of mobile home is in northwest Canada, particularly in the construction industry, and most sales are made in this area.

Disposition of the Klassen Homes hangars and other buildings at the Vulcan Airport has not yet been announced.

First Class Honors

Records now compiled show that 11 Grade 9 students at County of Vulcan school for the 1966-67 term received first class honors standing in the Grade 9 departmental examinations written last June.

Examining marks of 80% or better in all examinations written, these students rate among the top 4% of Grade 9 students in the province.

They are: Edna Gerding, Vulcan; Penny Hitz, Vulcan; Kathy Wellman, Vulcan; James Williams, Vulcan; Dennis Brown, Arrowwood; Brenda Williams, Arrowwood; Donald Bach, Champion; Gail Hagg, Champion; Elaine Hart, Lomond; Kathryn Hagedorn, Mossleigh and Donna Wark, Mossleigh.

The top Grade 9 student in the county was James Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Williams of the Alston district. The top county school on the basis of Grade 9 examination results was Mossleigh, where 82% of the students received a "B" standing or better and 98% received a "C" standing or better.

A total of 1,002 Grade 9 papers were written in the county, with 64% grading "B" or better and 92% grading "C" or better.

Harvest Over 80% Completed

Harvest is now over 80% completed in the County of Vulcan area, according to crop reports of Alberta Wheat Pool agents. Continued dry weather would see much of what is unfinished completed this week although some late wheat and flax might not be ready for another week or so.

Wheat yields are reported to be from 20 to 30 bushels per acre and should average out at 23 or 24, which is much better than anticipated earlier. Most spring wheat is grading No. 2.

MASTER FARM FAMILY. One of the two winners of the 1967 Master Farm Family Award was the Walter V. Boras family of Picture Butte. The yard is made each year by the Alberta Department of Agriculture for outstanding accomplishments, not only in farming practices, but also for community services.

are seen in the midst of one of the Boras' sugar beet fields. More than 200 acres of the Boras farm enterprise are under intensive, irrigated cultivation.

(C) At upper right, Walter Boras inspects a portion of his beef herd. The Boras farm is an integration of irrigated production with a range cow-calf and feedlot operation. There are 1,600 acres of range land, some 1,000 acres of which are leased.

(D) At lower right is a view of the Boras farm home as it nestles in the shade of a protective wall of trees. An outdoor picnic and recreational area adjacent to the house is used for entertaining and for family relaxation.

ties include many different types of work on the farm, agri-business positions, and technical positions.

In the horticultural technology field there are between 30 and 40 different kinds of jobs, in irrigation technology between 20 and 30, and in fashion and design technology about 20.

A 'very wide' selection of positions, which may be divided into 10 or 15 main classifications, are available to business education graduates. The high school courses at the colleges prepare students for a great many educational programs, and, in some cases, for immediate employment.

Information about the various courses can be obtained from this office, or from the principals of the Olds, Vermilion, and Fairview Agricultural and Vocational Colleges.

ship, an award of $25 will be offered for the best essay from each province. Many municipalities in Alberta are also offering attractive prizes on the local level.

Since all essays must be in the hands of district agriculturists by Oct. 10, anyone planning to compete in this competition should start preparing his or her essay immediately.

Complete details on rules for entering the contest can be obtained from this office.

ANNUAL WEED ESSAY CONTEST

How about a winner from Alberta? Some lucky boy or girl is going to win the $300 scholarship, sponsored by the North-Central Weed Control Conference—why not let it be you?

This annual contest is open to boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 18 whose parents are engaged in operating a farm in one of the three prairie provinces or the 14 north-central states.

W. Lobay, Head of the Weed Control Branch of the Provincial Plant Industry Division, stresses that the essay must deal specifically with how weeds are controlled on the writer's family farm, and that it should not be more than 1,000 words in length. It should contain a description of the methods used rather than provide a summary of general weed control techniques. The essay must be written in the English language and be either typed or written in ink on one side of the paper only.

Judging will be based on 75 per cent of the marks for subject matter in the essay and 25 per cent for the method of presentation.

The successful contestant can use the North-Central Weed Control conference scholarship to attend any recognized agricultural or home economics college up to three years after he graduates from high school. The only stipulation is that the course chosen must lead to a degree or diploma in agriculture or home economics. In addition to the $300 scholar-TIDBITS FROM THE D.H.E.'s and the cake will rise higher.

DESK Iced tea or coffee is greatly improved if the ice cubes are made of tea, coffee or lemon juice instead of water.

Since this has been a busy week, I am sending along some little hints, news items and suggestions garnered from here and there. If you're still having trouble with your pastry — why not roll it out between 2 pieces of waxed paper. Your pies will be more tender as overworking and too much flour toughens it.

Defrosting your deepfreeze a problem? Use your hair dryer or put the vacuum cleaner hose on the blower end. The warm air will quickly loosen frost so that it falls off in sheets. Making meat pies? For a new flavor treat why not use tomato juice instead of water for liquid in your pastry. Delicious and different.

Large frozen juice cans make excellent moulds for refrigerator cookie dough. Cut both ends of the can, pack in your cookie dough, freeze, then remove from the can. Each roll can then be individually wrapped in foil or saran. Frozen cookie dough may be sliced and baked without thawing.

Grease bottom of cake pans only. If the sides are not greased the batter will cling to the sides. THE COST OF MILK: With the recent increase in the price of milk from 26c per quart to 28c per quart, you may be questioned on the justice of such a price increase. The following figures may give you some help.

MILK VERSUS POP

Beverage	Price used on Costing	Cost of 8-oz. serving
Milk	40 fluid oz. — 28c	5.6c per 8 oz.
Soda Pop	28-oz. bottles — 2 for 45c deposit extra	6.4c per 8 oz.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Vulcan, Alberta
Sept. 8th, 1967.
Editor, The Advocate.
Dear Sir:

Would you please print this letter to see if you can help us? Vulcan and district has a real problem on their hands, as far as the Cubs, Scouts, Guides and Brownies are concerned, that is lack of leadership.

Every year our numbers of boys and girls in this organization increase, yet the leadership problem never seems to improve. When we consider that we have approximately one hundred and fifty boys and girls, there is no earthly reason for this problem, if the parents of these young people would do their part. I wonder if these parents ever stop to think when they send their children off to a meeting, who is leading this and do they require any help?

It is the responsibility of every parent to help as leaders or as part of the group committee, which is set up to help this organization function. To burden the same few people year after year to do this work is unfair and something drastic should be done to rectify this. These people receive very little praise or thanks for the good work they are doing, but let something go wrong and they soon hear about it. Very few people realize what goes on behind the scenes and a person should think twice before they go sounding off when something does go wrong. In a few minutes these people can do enough damage, that reflects on these groups for some time.

This can and should be enjoyable work, working with young people. So why don't you step forward and give us a hand, thus making ours a better community and helping to develop better citizens for tomorrow.

Thank you.
Yours truly,
"Interested."

be leading are hiding amongst the baggage of technological advance, baggage of autos, TV sets, fridges and so on." This happens he felt, for three reasons:

- 1) We don't believe in ourselves... a person must be able to look at himself and say, "These things I can do well." He said many lack this faith because they never try.
- 2) Man lacks a sense of duty and sense of obligation to his fellow man. Dr. Collett described this by citing the local instance where an Indian boy is graduated giving evidence that this area is trying to give equal opportunity to all for an education and vocation.
- 3) We are likely to become smug and complacent in this society because of the material wealth it has revealed to us.

Dr. Collett felt that because of a great degree, there is no need to struggle any more in our society, our Western nations are becoming weaker while this is not so in the Orient, Africa and other less affluent countries. "Unless we get rid of this attitude our western world will sink no matter how wealthy the United States is."

Bethel Vacation Bible School Well Attended

The Vacation Bible School conducted Aug. 14 to 18 at Bethel Lutheran Church was considered very successful by Rev. R. Matejka. During the week of school 44 children were registered, with average attendance running at 38 each day.

The theme of the Bible School was, The Good I Love, which showed the children the truth, that God is responsible for all things, from the creation of the world, through man's salvation, to return to God after death dependent on faith in Jesus Christ as the only means of salvation.

Teaching the school were: Gail Hagg, nursery class; Cheryl Hagg, kindergarten; Mrs. Lorne Hoffman, primary; Mrs. Matejka, Jr. and Pastor Matejka, Jr. High.

Each afternoon soft drinks and cookies were provided for the children by Women's Guild. As part of the final afternoon a brief program was conducted with nursery and kindergarten classes age 3 to 5 singing one song. The rest of the class then sang another hymn.

An offering of $28.10 was given by the children. The money will be sent to a Lutheran Missionary in a foreign field.

The school concluded with parents and grandparents viewing the completed work books and projects, while a snack of ice cream and cookies was enjoyed by all.

Couple Mark 50th Anniversary

More than 200 neighbors and friends called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. (Billy) McIntyre on the recent occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, when members of their family entertained in honor of the well known couple.

Present for the occasion were the couple's three daughters, Mrs. Clifford (Bertha) Webber of Vulcan, Mrs. Glen (Marion) Rhodes, Champion; and Mrs. Dan (Frances) White of Edmonton and two sons, Willis and Everett of Vulcan and district. There are also 18 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre, the former Beatrice Bennett, are longtime residents of the Reid Hill district, having lived here since shortly after the turn of the century. Both of them are highly regarded and have a great many friends to attest to their kindness and generosity to any in need.

RICH PROVINCE

Almost half of Canada's total mineable coal reserves are found in the Province of Alberta, where an increasing amount is being used for the thermal generation of electric power.

Points represented by those present were Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Claresholm, Jasper, North Battleford, Sask., High River, Hanna, Lomond, Carman, Milo, Vulcan and district.

The guests of honor were the recipients of a number of lovely gifts.

The reception rooms were gay with bouquets of summer blooms. The tea table was centered by a beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Marion Rhodes and decorated by Mrs. Gladys Speechly of Edmonton, a family friend. Mrs. Speechly used the centennial motif and completed the lovely effect by entwining five red rose buds around the base, to represent the five children of Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre. The pourers presided over the lovely silver tea services, while daughters, granddaughters and daughters-in-law and a number of friends served the dainty lunch.

New Officers In Overflow Crowd Game Management At High River

The Vulcan district is now being patrolled by two new game officers whose headquarters is at High River.

Since the transfer of former officer Bert Freeman last year, Don Caldwell has been in charge and this spring a university graduate, Jim Nichols, arrived as an assistant.

Mr. Caldwell, originally from Vancouver Island, has previously served four years with his department at Peace River and two years at Pincher Creek. He is married and has a family of three boys.

Assistant Jim Nichols and his wife came to High River this spring.

Questioned on the upland game prospects for this fall Mr. Caldwell said that while no game count had been taken the outlook is encouraging for pheasant, partridge and ducks. The game officer explained that pheasants were late in nesting and were not seen for an abnormally long time but there have been big hatches under good conditions and in some cases there have been repeat hatchlings.

In recent weeks some travellers have come upon good sized broods of young pheasant on the roads although other farmers whose land is normally the centre of pheasant activity, do not see birds in great numbers.

The well filled sloughs and pot-holes which resulted from this spring's late moisture have been ideal breeding waters for ducks. This will help the local duck population but the success of the season will depend on the main continental breeding grounds. The duck season opens Sept. 22, in this area.

Smart man. Dodd's Pills stimulate the kidneys to help relieve the condition causing the backache and tired feeling. Soon he felt better — rested better. If you are bothered by backache, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's.

A UNIQUE BOOK
ON ALBERTA'S
NATURAL HISTORY
BECOMES AVAILABLE SEPT. 14th

Alberta's four major associated gas and electric utility companies are pleased to announce the publication of a book on the natural history of our province, as a tribute to Canada's 100th birthday.

ALBERTA - A NATURAL HISTORY is the centennial project of Natural History and Learned Societies in Alberta, and from the ranks of these societies came most of the 30 distinguished authors and editors who produced the authoritative manuscript. The editor-in-chief was Dr. W. George Hardy of Edmonton.

Here, under one cover is revealed the fascinating story of Alberta's natural environment: astronomy, climate, geology, geography, the flora and fauna of the province, early natural history explorations, the study of natural history and the history of man.

Many of Alberta's outstanding photographers contributed color and black and white photographs to complement the text, and artists and cartographers were commissioned to produce maps and drawings.

ALBERTA - A NATURAL HISTORY will be available at Mitchell's Pharmacy, Vulcan and Champion Sundries, Champion — on publication day, Thursday, September 14th.

The finished volume is 344 pages in length with over 500 illustrations. School children will find it a valuable reference, and all who read it will gain a greater knowledge and understanding of Alberta's natural environment and man's relationship to this environment.

In addition to providing financial assistance towards the production of the book, the utility companies, as patrons of the project, have been pleased to set aside over 2,000 copies for complimentary distribution to schools (grades seven to twelve), libraries and senior citizen homes throughout the province.

The patron companies commend ALBERTA - A NATURAL HISTORY to all Albertans and complement the editors, authors, photographers and artists, whose generous contributions of time and talent have made such a publication possible.

Patronage of "Alberta - A Natural History" has been the centennial project of:

The wisest penny we know.

We call it a power penny. In the past 20 years it has become "blue chip" currency — for it's the only kind of penny that has doubled in value. Every home maker can live like a queen (even without a butler or maid) with electrical servants like these.

From Math. to Social Studies — you can learn a lot in 5 hours of study.
Cost? Just one power penny.

A power penny gives you a warm bed for a night.

Your power penny keeps you up to the minute and in time with the world for 2 days.

A portable heater and a power penny give you half an hour of snug warmth.

One power penny, one chicken
— a gourmet's delight!

MORE POWER TO YOUR PENNY with today's electrical living!

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

(By Dr. Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P.) Now that the National Progressive Conservative Convention is over and a new leader has been chosen, what is to come next?

The Honorable Robert Stanfield will be a busy man for the next couple of months. He is, of course, not a westerner, but this should not be a drawback, because he will listen and learn from those of us in the P.C. Caucus at Ottawa who have been brought up on the prairies and know the problems of grain farming, livestock production and industrial development. My associations with him has led me to believe that he prefers to hear arguments, and weigh the evidence on all problems before making a decision. He is not a person who thinks he has all the answers, and this is what people like in this mild-mannered, dignified gentleman. He believes in seeking the help and advice of all P.C. Members of Parliament, and I am sure all of these members will work as a united team behind his leadership.

Before he can sit in the House of Commons and take up his common duties as Leader of the Opposition, he must find a federal seat that is available. Either some member must resign to make a place for him, or there must be a seat where no member is now serving. A seat may be offered by one of the present Members of Nova Scotia as a goodwill gesture, but this should not be taken as final. The Jasper-Edson riding in Alberta is open, and if he chose that riding, he would undoubtedly be well received by all. He could then run in the Rocky Mountain riding at the next election if he wished to have a western seat rather than one in Nova Scotia.

If Mr. Stanfield does not choose to run in the western riding of Jasper-Edson, it is possible there will be a bye-election there, and the winner would then be in line to be the P.C. candidate in the Rocky Mountain riding in the next federal election because more than 50% of the people in Rocky Mountain are in the northern portion of the riding.

Any fool can criticize, condemn, and complain . . . and most fools do.

David Thompson . . . Great Explorer

David Thompson, one of the world's greatest geographers and explorers, is pictured taking an observation, and pioneering a route through the Athabaska Pass in 1810. To take an observation, he poured mercury into a flat iron pan placed perfectly level on firm ground, away from any vibrations. The glass covered pan provided an artificial horizon. It reflect an image of the sun which, surveyed with a sextant, gives the angle of the sun's elevation at the meridian above the horizon, and from this the surveyor is able to calculate his position.

Thompson was born in poverty in London in 1770 and died in poverty near Montreal at the age of 87, after an extremely active life dedicated to his work, and on retirement, to his family of 13 children. Thompson's career began humbly with navigational training at a Westminster school devoted to educating poor boys. At 14 he joined the Hudson's Bay Co. as an apprentice, sailed to Fort Prince of Wales, where Samuel Hearne was governor, and next year moved to York Factory as a clerk and hunter. During his seven-year apprenticeship, Thompson travelled with large parties many times to the northern interior of the continent, exploring and establishing new trading posts, wintering with Indians and studying survey methods.

In 1791 he became a regular trader and surveyor at a good salary, and in 1796 succeeded in reaching Lake Athabaska by a previously unexplored route through Reindeer and Woolaston Lakes, helped only by two inexperienced Indians, a birch-bark canoe he made himself, one gun and a fishnet. His Hudson's Bay Co. governor, however, wanted him to concentrate on local fur trade instead of surveying this remote region, where the North-West Co. was building a lucrative trade, so Thompson resigned and joined the North-West Co. in 1797 as an explorer and surveyor.

With the North-West Co. in the first year he surveyed the U.S.-Canadian border, pinpointed the positions of the company's trading posts across Canada, and explored the source of the Missouri River.

In the next eight years, he combined surveying of the prairies with fur trading, and crammed notebooks full of data about the terrain, animals and natives. He mapped Red Deer Lake, the Athabaska River and its tributaries, including the Pembina River; the North Saskatchewan River west to Rocky Mountain House and south to the Bow River; Lesser Slave Lake and the Peace River; the Churchill River and the "muskrat country" of northern Manitoba. During this period he married Charlotte Small, the half-breed daughter of an Irish fur trader, and they began a family that eventually grew to seven sons and six daughters.

In the next four years, Thompson extended the company's trade west of the Rocky Mountains into the unexplored region south of the Fraser River, and established several trading posts along the Columbia River, surveying and mapping wherever he went.

From 1810 to 1812 he pioneered a new route through the mountains via the Athabaska River, threaded the Athabaska Pass in mid-winter, and surveyed the Columbia River from source to mouth. Finally he pulled back to Fort William with six canoe-loads of furs and there joined the freight-canoe fleet bound for Montreal.

After almost three decades and some 50,000 miles of constant travelling, he settled near Montreal to complete his maps of Western Canada, noting with typical modesty and precision: "Thus I have fully completed the survey of this part of North America from sea to sea, and by almost innumerable astronomical observations have determined the positions of the Mountains, Lakes and Rivers and other remarkable places on the northern part of this continent . . ." The maps he laid down for remote parts of Canada are still definitive and accurate today.

He served for ten years as the British representative on the commission which surveyed the U.S.-Canada boundary from the St. Lawrence to Lake of the Woods. Then he moved to Williamstown, Ontario and lived there for several years in comfort, but his savings melted away as he established his sons in business and paid off their debts when they failed. At last he had to move back to Longueuil near Montreal and work as a surveyor until his eyesight failed and he was forced to retire. His last years passed in extreme poverty. He had to sell all his instru-
